INTRO

CONTEXT

TIMELESS PRINCIPLES IN A MODERN CONTEXT.

For more than a century, Junior League members have confronted society's most pressing issues and tackled its toughest problems, leaving a legacy of reform like no other.

But in a complex world, accelerating and advancing at a rapid pace, change is uncomfortable, conflicts are inevitable, and challenges are cyclical. Problems loom large. Leadership talent and funding are scarce.

To fight these battles, find solutions, and advocate for those in need, a renewable army of women empowered as agents of positive change is essential.

Preparing women to serve their communities is The Junior League's Mission. Because tomorrow there will be new issues and new challenges—and the women of The Junior League will continue to serve as the undeterred voices for action, justice, and change.

INTRO

MISSION

TRANSFORMING COMMUNITIES BY CHALLENGING THE STATUS QUO.

The Association of Junior Leagues International, Inc. (AJLI) and the individual Junior Leagues are organizations of women committed to promoting voluntarism, developing the potential of women and improving communities through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers. Its purpose is exclusively educational and charitable.

ASSOCIATION PRAYER

We pray that we will never be so blind that our small world is all we see, or so supremely satisfied that what we are is all we ever hope to be. Grant us the joy of filling someone's need. Make us gracious followers; make gracious those who lead. And more than all, we pray that through the years, we will remember there are always new frontiers. Amen.

INTRO

OUR COMMITMENT TO DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

SCOPE

PUTTING PROGRESS IN PERSPECTIVE.

By framing the work of local Leagues within the larger international network, it reinforces the scope of our work and the impact it has. It's all about power in numbers, or as we like to call it: The Multiplier Effect.

Here's an example of how you might frame the Junior League Scope in a communication.

Junior League of Lafayette is a network of empowered female civic leaders working with community partners to address and solve pressing issues like [Issue A] and [Issue B]. We're part of an international network of 291 Leagues comprised of over 150,000 women, in Canada, Mexico, the U.K. and the U.S., engaged in similar work in their own communities. This provides us with a unique and powerful depth of knowledge and resourcefulness to bring about the changes we strive to accomplish.

MESSAGING

A POWERFUL STORY ISN'T HEARD, IT'S FELT.

To tell a compelling story, a communication's design and messaging work hand-in-hand.

The work we do, the leadership we provide is life changing to individual members, local communities and the world. Our voice is an opportunity to own that position. We can deliver tough messages with a sense of respect and humility, and embody professionalism without resorting to jargon or overly technical language.

The voice behind our message is:

Clear

- We are driven by a clear vision.
- We let our results speak for themselves.
- We project confidence through simplicity.
- We are organized in our efforts.

Bold

- We're not afraid to speak out or to be noticed.
- We look at issues in a new light.
- We stand up for those who cannot.
- We tackle the problems others ignore.
- We believe in the power of togetherness.

Confident

- We've been building and transforming communities for over 100 years.
- We create significant and lasting change.
- We're proud of our legacy.
- We are the source communities turn to when they have a problem to solve.
- We are intelligent, efficient, trained volunteers, not just "willing hands."
- We've provided millions of hours of service.

Human

- We are a brand about people.
- Our women are the force that makes change happen.
- Our women address critical human needs in their communities.
- We are a force for good in a complicated world.
- We are hands-on with our communities, not just sending in money.
- We deal with the real issues of our society.
- We speak a language that everyone can understand.
- We nurture women to fulfill their potential.
- We believe that volunteer service is an essential part of responsible, engaged citizenship.

MESSAGING

KEY MESSAGES

HOW DO YOU ENCAPSULATE OVER A CENTURY'S WORTH OF PROGRESS?

From the Gilded Age to the Digital Age, the work and achievements of The Junior League is a bold and inspiring story with results that can be felt throughout the fabric of modern society.

To frame this up, we created this compilation of key messages to communicate the core of The Junior League's story.

Background

The Junior League, one of the oldest, largest and most effective women's volunteer organizations in the world, has matured and evolved since it was founded by social activism pioneer Mary Harriman in 1901.

Vision

True to their legacy, today's League members are at the forefront of tackling society's thorniest issues—addressing and acting as advocates on an array of critical issues including human trafficking, foster care, juvenile justice, teen self-esteem, cybercrimes, literacy and the environment, among others—for the express purpose of enhancing the social, cultural and political fabric of our society.

Commitment

Our commitment, has remained unwavering: to develop exceptionally qualified civic leaders who can identify a community's most urgent and pressing needs and address them with meaningful and relevant programs and initiatives that not only improve lives, but change the way people think.

Results

The Junior League—the 150,000 women empowered to lead in 291 Leagues in the United States, United Kingdom, Canada and Mexico—has amassed an archive of irrefutable results and undisputed reputation as thoughtful and influential change agents for the public good. Our organization has been instrumental in championing education and literacy programs, children's cultural development, school nutrition, vaccination, the Clean Water Act, and heightened awareness around domestic violence and alcohol abuse.

MESSAGING

INCLUSIVE LANGUAGE

As an organization and as individuals, we strive to be inclusive and respectful in our storytelling and be conscious of the evolution of language use. As a general rule, ask the individual/group what terms they prefer.

Use language that is free from words, phrases, or tones that reflect prejudiced, stereotyped, discriminatory, or limited views of particular people or groups.

Race or ethnicity should be included in a story only when race is directly relevant to the story.

African American is often used, but is not always accurate — not all Black people trace their lineage to Africa.

Capitalize the “B” in the term Black when referring to people in a racial, ethnic, or cultural context. The lowercase black is a color, not a person.

Capitalize the following without hyphens: African American, Asian American, Black American, Native American, Latina.

Use the term Women of Color ONLY when referring to a group of women encompassing diverse racial and ethnic backgrounds—not when referring to Black women or Latina women, etc.

Be familiar with the acronym BIPOC which stands for Black, Indigenous, and People of Color. This term is gaining in popularity but note it does not include Latina or Asian identities.

Use historically underrepresented groups instead of minorities. People of Color are actually the majority in many large U.S. cities. Also, use underserved communities, rather than ghetto or the projects.

IDENTITY

A NAME CAN SPEAK VOLUMES.

The Junior League brand identity is communicated on a high level by our name and those of our Leagues. There's a specific way The Junior League name should be featured in layout—as well as how it should appear for local Leagues.

International Name

As body text, the international name should be featured as “The Junior League” with a capital “T” on “The.” The role of “The Junior League” brand is the outward expression of an international alliance structure, and the “The” is reserved for the organizational brand as a whole, representing all 291 individual Leagues. In layout, it should be featured as seen.

The Association

Featured in body text as “The Association of Junior Leagues International” with a capital “T” on “The.” The name can be abbreviated as “AJLI,” in all caps, after the first occurrence of the full name. When referencing the Association with its acronym we do not use “The AJLI,” we simply say “AJLI.” While The Association of Junior Leagues International, Inc. is the Association’s legal name, and is used in invoices, contracts, tax returns, legal documents and so on, the “Inc.” is not necessary in the logo.

In layout, the full name and abbreviation should be featured as seen here.

 THE JUNIOR LEAGUE

 AJLI

THE ASSOCIATION OF JUNIOR LEAGUES INTERNATIONAL

IDENTITY

Leagues

In the logo, the name of the League is represented by the city name. For example, it would be featured as “Junior League of Lafayette.” In layout, the full name should be featured as seen here. In body text, the League name should be featured as “Junior League of Lafayette.” The “Inc.” that completes the legal name of some Leagues is used in contracts, tax returns, legal documents and so on, but is not necessary in a logo.

League names can be abbreviated, in all caps with no punctuation, after the first occurrence of the full name.

For example:

“We had a great time visiting Junior League of Los Angeles (JLLA). Now that I have seen how JLLA operates, I feel inspired.”

Be careful not to rely on the acronym in lieu of “Junior League of Lafayette” on a regular basis—particularly with external audiences—because you diminish awareness of The Junior League as a brand.

Preferred abbreviation for Junior League of Lafayette is JLL. Unacceptable abbreviations for Junior League of Lafayette include, but are not limited to: JL; JL of Lafayette; JL of L.

Tax Exempt Status

Junior League of Lafayette is organized and operated exclusively for educational and charitable purposes, and is exempt from federal income tax under section 501(c)(3).

Effective: September 10, 1959

Stacked Wordmark

The wordmark can be used when there are enough design elements in the piece to help it distinguish itself as belonging to our brand.

Clear Space

A margin of clear space is always drawn around the logo to create an invisible boundary, giving it room to breathe and more visual impact. This area of isolation also ensures that headlines, text, or other visual elements do not encroach on the logo, and should be increased whenever possible.

The clear area is defined by using half of the height of the logo box, which is referred to as "x." There should always be half the distance "x" between any part of the logo and any other page element or the edge of the page.

Our tagline can be used as a design element. In this situation, the full combination mark should appear somewhere else on that design piece.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

THE POWER OF ASSOCIATION: STRENGTH IN NUMBERS.

Our overarching goal is to have greater brand awareness for The Junior League and every individual League that is a part of the Association. It is important to acknowledge each of us comprise a much larger whole.

AJLI strongly encourages us to have a page on our public-facing website about our League's membership in The Association of Junior Leagues International. It strengthens our League to show that we are part of an international organization—291 Leagues strong. While our work locally is extraordinarily important, there is equal value to communicating that our League is a vital part of a global entity.

To that end, AJLI has made available an “About AJLI” widget that can be plugged directly into our League site. Designed to mirror information from the official AJLI site, the “About AJLI” widget will fit on to a webpage and inform visitors about AJLI and our shared Mission. Installing the widget also will ensure that you're using the most current language to describe who we are, what we do and how many Leagues comprise the Association (FYI—as of 3.15.16 there are 291). To get a widget for our site, visit The Widget Marketplace.

The screenshot shows the top portion of the Junior League of Phoenix website. The header includes the organization's logo, tagline "Women building better communities", and navigation links: Home, About JLP, Community Impact, Support, and JLP Store. Social media icons for Facebook, Twitter, YouTube, and LinkedIn are also present. Below the header is a large banner image of a city skyline at night. On the left side, there is a vertical menu with links: About JLP, 2014-2015 Board of Directors & Operations Team, President's Message, Meet Our Members, History, Past JLP Presidents, Community Advisors, News & Media, About AJLI, AJLI Connected, and Contact Us. The main content area features a section titled "About AJLI" with a sub-header "We Are The Junior League" and a large image of the Junior League logo. To the right of the logo is a text box containing the "Our Mission", "Our Vision", and "Our Reaching Out Statement". Below this is a section titled "Association Purpose" and "The Power of Association".

IDENTITY

PARTNERSHIPS

CREATING CHANGE THROUGH COLLABORATION.

When our Junior League works with an external organization it's considered a "co-branded" initiative. This is a partnership between your League and the community organization that can result in increased awareness of both organizations and provide effective marketing opportunities for your League. Co-branding also has the potential to elevate The Junior League brand in the mind of your community.

Logo Placement

Our League's logo should be equal in size and prominence with equal partner logos. The logo should not be altered in any way. Always maintain clear space minimums around the logo.

ENDORSEMENTS

LENDING CREDIBILITY WITH OUR NAME.

Use of The Junior League brand in conjunction with an initiative, service or event conveys a promise of authenticity and a reassurance of intent. The Junior League brand is the source of credibility and accountability, and the presence of it as an endorsement in the brand name establishes a powerful sense of trust.

Brand Positioning

All programs, initiatives, efforts and events that are produced by Leagues should use a phrase that identifies it as effort "of the Junior League of [city name]."

This phrasing should be placed below the mark that represents that initiative, and should be scaled slightly smaller to show hierarchy. Maintain enough clear space between the two for legibility.

The Junior League logo always should be present but depending on product/delivery/collateral may not be able to be locked up with event logo. Make every effort to make sure it's in close proximity, otherwise you lose the connection between the event and the League.

IDENTITY

PROGRAM GRAPHICS

GUIDELINES

The following program graphics are to be used as represented below. These graphics are subject to the same usage guidelines as the primary Junior League of Lafayette logo.

Tinsel & Treasures
Both versions accepted.

Cookbook

PARTNER PROGRAMS

To ensure the connection between the event and the League, the text "Junior League of Lafayette" wordmark logo should be present in conjunction with the program graphic.

If this is not possible due to the product or substrate, an exception may be made, on a case by case basis (i.e., budget restrictions, space availability, technical reasons, etc.).

Note: All Junior League of Lafayette branding graphics use JL Red (PMS 187) except Tinsel & Treasures.

DESIGN

DESIGN ELEMENTS

SHOWING THE SPIRIT OF THE LEAGUE.

The look and feel of Junior League communications and materials should embody the spirit, passion, and intelligence of our organization. To achieve this, the designs should be:

[The following mirrors the tenets from the Voice section since they should both be informed by the same philosophy.]

Clear

- We are driven by a clear vision.
- We let our results speak for themselves.
- We project confidence through simplicity.
- We're organized in our efforts.

Confident

- We've been building and transforming communities for over 100 years.
- We create significant and lasting change.
- We're proud of our legacy.

Bold

- We're not afraid to speak out to be noticed.
- We look at issues in a new light.
- We stand up for those who cannot.
- We tackle the problems others ignore.
- We believe in the power of togetherness.

DESIGN ELEMENTS (cont.)

While there must be consistency among the core elements, there is flexibility when creating printed and online pieces. By using the same fonts, colors and other core elements, our communications have the same ‘feel’ to them—an overall Junior League style.

Text Only

Sometimes a pure typographic solution can make a more powerful statement. It’s about putting the core message front-and-center.

Outline

Only to be used for headlines or artwork—the design treatment provides contrast to the all cap headers and weight of the logo mark. An outline should never be used on the wordmark when it is used alone.

Tone On Tone

Give texture and depth by using monochromatic reds or greys. They should not be mixed together within the same space.

White Space

Gracious amounts of white space give design elements breathing room and helps the viewer understand what’s important.

Move Off the Page

Cropping adds visual interest. Consider cropping headers, the brand mark and images to push the boundaries of the design and move the viewer’s eye across the page. When cropping the “JL” mark, always include the full mark or the wordmark somewhere else on the page.

DESIGN

TYPOGRAPHY

CLARITY AND CONFIDENCE, DOWN TO THE LETTER.

Primary Typeface

FF DIN is The Junior League's primary typeface. This is used for the logo and wordmark, and all print communications and merchandise. FF DIN is the more polished form of its historical predecessor—DIN 1451. Introduced in 1905, DIN 1451 has been the standard typeface for road signage and traffic signs in Germany since the 1930s. A balanced, legible, contemporary typeface, FF DIN is celebrated for being clean, modern, bold and striking—yet neutral enough to be objective bearer of information.

The Junior League uses FF Din 1 and FF Din 2 families. They contain five font weights plus italic versions for each. Combine font weights in a way that visually separates different textual elements like headlines, sub-headlines, body copy, and captions. Plan carefully to create visual contrast and accentuate the content hierarchy.

Secondary Typeface

Museo Sans is The Junior League's secondary typeface—used for the web or for materials meant to be read online, such as PDFs. Museo is a sturdy, low-contrast, highly legible sans-serif typeface well suited for any display or text use. It includes five weight styles with italic versions for each. Museo should never be used as a replacement for DIN in the logo or wordmark.

Arial

Arial typeface is an acceptable stand in only when DIN or Museo are unavailable. Arial may be used in PowerPoint presentations as well. However, it should never be used as a replacement for DIN in the logo or wordmark.

Script Typeface

Sallita is Junior League of Lafayette's script typeface. It should never be used as a replacement for DIN in the logo or wordmark.

DESIGN

COLOR

THE COLOR OF PASSION AND LEADERSHIP.

JL Red is one of our distinguishing features and is an essential part of our brand identity. When combined with white, dark grey and black, a distinct style is created that is both easy to use and powerful in its simplicity. (Primary color palette: JL Red, Black, Dark Grey, White)

Note: Color values listed are correct and final.

Usage

It is important that every JL design utilize the JL Red brand color. While it does not have to be the primary focus of the piece, it should be visible somewhere in the composition.

Use JL Red to emphasize, accentuate and lend priority. By using it in smaller increments against a white background, the color becomes more pronounced and proud. If a piece is predominantly JL Red, go with a monochromatic approach, using white type.

The logo may be placed on other background colors. In those cases, the logo should appear in white. Maintain contrast between the background and the logo to ensure legibility.

JLL Yellow represents Junior League of Lafayette's history and its founding as Service League of Lafayette. JLL Yellow is to be used for special occasions. It is not to be part of the standard color palette. JLL Yellow should never replace JL Red in the logo nor should it ever become the main color of the palette. Examples of when to use JLL Yellow: Yellowbook; anniversary items; historic items; etc.

PATTERN

THERE'S POWER IN NUMBERS.

Two of our patterns reference the logo block. By using the shape in a pattern, it suggests the power of our Association and the multiplying effect we have in communities. Colors can be reversed and combinations changed. For help, contact communications@ajli.org.

PHOTOGRAPHY

CAPTURING LEADERSHIP AND TRANSFORMATION IN ACTION.

Used well, photography can reaffirm the spirit and point of view of The Junior League brand. Applied carelessly, it can have the opposite effect.

Subject Matter

Photography should convey the story of working in the community, helping to position The Junior League as being part of the larger fabric of society.

Quality & Resolution

Use clear, well-lit photography. Consider the composition and framing so that the image conveys a story—even to someone without context. Never use low-resolution photos or jagged pixelated images (ideal DPI ≥ 300).

Candid Images & Portraits

For community photos, photograph members engaged in the work, showing them having fun and collaborating with others. For portraits of civic leaders, etc., photograph them looking directly into camera to communicate confidence. Where possible, no more than five (5) individuals in the photo.

Avoid Misperceptions

Although photos of Junior League social activities can lend personality and texture, they should play less of a leading role. These types of images can have a reverse effect, perpetuating misperceptions of The Junior League and weakening the value of our role in our local communities and beyond. Also, when considering what photos to share please be sure to demonstrate the full spectrum of diversity that exists within your League—race/ethnicity, religion, age, personal style, appearance, etc.

General Guidelines

Signed releases should be used when adults are posed for photographs or slated to appear on videotape. Signed release forms are not needed when subjects are in public places such as fairgrounds, parks, or public streets. When images are published, our League should take cautionary steps to provide minimum identifying information and not use specific street or mailing addresses, email addresses, or phone numbers. Photographs or videotaping in private or public schools or youth camps must be done only with school or camp permission. It is the responsibility of the photographer or videographer to obtain signed release forms and maintain records.

Photo/video release forms are available for download on the JLL member website.

ILLUSTRATION

SOCIAL MEDIA

SOCIAL MEDIA

Social media has greatly increased our collective capacity to connect with one another and the communities we serve. It facilitates the healthy sharing of ideas and information with people and organizations committed to creating social good. AJLI embraces social media and recognizes its power to help us continue our legacy—115 years and counting—of women building better communities.

NAMING CONVENTION

When naming our League’s social media presence, clearly and concisely identify our League (i.e. Junior League of Lafayette). Do not name our page in such a way it might be confused with a general page representing The Junior League or with any other League.

When representing our League please remember to set up a Facebook PAGE (different from PROFILE, i.e., First Name “Junior”, Last Name “League”) or our account may be disabled for violating Facebook’s Terms of Use (see below):

“Facebook profiles are meant to represent a single individual. Organizations of any type are not permitted to maintain an account under the name of their organization. We have created Facebook Pages to allow organizations to have a presence on Facebook. These Pages are distinct presences, separate from user profiles, and optimized for an organization’s needs to communicate, distribute information/content, engage their fans, and capture new audiences virally through their fan’s recommendations to their friends. Facebook Pages are designed to be a media rich, valuable presence for any artist, business or brand.”

Note: Junior League of Lafayette currently utilizes the following social media platforms to disseminate its message: Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn, Pinterest, Snapchat, Twitter, and YouTube.

SOCIAL MEDIA

PROFILE GRAPHIC

The preferred icon should be the “JL box” Logo. The square shape lends itself well to the icon shape on most platforms. Depending on length of our League name, we may be able to use the “Center Stacked Combo” (see sample). It is preferred we use the same profile graphic and cover photo throughout all our social media platforms to encourage consistency.

POST TYPES/CONTENT

These platforms serve a dual purpose: as they are both an internal and external means of communication. Internally, we are communicating with our members and engaging them in the work of our League. Externally, we are raising awareness of the work of our League.

As you are crafting content for social media, always remember to tag partner organizations and people, such as event speakers and guests. Proper tagging is likely to be noticed and result in shares of our posts.

If you are reposting content, including direct quotes from other Leagues or from outside experts or organizations, make sure to give them proper attribution through tagging.

PLATFORM RECOMMENDATIONS

There is no one-size-fits-all answer as to which social network(s) is right for our League. When considering which social media sites to use, think about which sites most of our members and the audience you want to reach are on.

Currently, the most popular sites in order of popularity for Junior Leagues are Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Pinterest, and LinkedIn.

In no way should Junior Leagues adopt accounts on more than one of these sites if they cannot manage them properly. Each of these sites has its own rules and conventions and adopting a social media site means that you are willing to commit to those sites and the audience you are reaching out to on them. Trying to take a shortcut, e.g., cross-posting to Twitter from Facebook, tells your audience that you do not prioritize the channel and community following you there.

COMMUNITY MANAGEMENT

Junior Leagues should assign community management to members who both understand social media and the importance of communicating regularly with its online audience. Depending on the League's capacity, community management might be assigned to one or more persons.

Good community management also requires understanding the ins-and-outs of the manager's League. The community manager should understand the League's and AJLI's brand standards, internal and external League events, and the League's crisis management communications plan.

Community management often involves customer service responsibilities such as answering questions about the League and its upcoming events on social media. Occasionally, this also means handling complaints and criticism, too. Good community management means handling any and all commentary in a timely manner. Often simply responding in a timely manner is enough to defuse a situation that begins negatively. On occasion, properly addressing a negative comment means taking matters offline. League community managers should be prepared for any situation and have a plan of action should matters escalate.

And remember, social is social. It's not a one-way street. It's a conversation. It's just as important to listen as it is to tell your story. It is important to engage with your social media audience and to talk with them not at them.

FREQUENCY

How often should my League post? The answer is there is no definitive answer. Be flexible, test and learn what works for your audience. Post at times when your audience is most active as this will have the greatest effect on engagement with your content. Some recommended baselines to start with:

Facebook: A good rule of thumb for posts per day is no less than one, no more than two (which will have you posting anywhere from 5-10 times per week)

Twitter: Tweeting 3-8 times per day is often a happy medium.

Instagram: 1-4 times per day

Pinterest: Start with 5-10 pinboards that have 5 pins each. Then 15 pins per week.

LinkedIn: 2-3 times per week.

SOCIAL MEDIA

VISUALS

Visuals are processed by the mind faster than text, and form a powerful emotional connection to the story of your League. The images posted by a League's community manager should help tell the story of your League. Images can and should be joyful and happy. Try to find a balance between smiling "posed" photos with those showing members actively engaged in their community. Be careful not to include photos of members with drinks at events; we don't want to perpetuate the misconceptions of The Junior League.

Photos may only be posted upon receipt of proper photo/video release form and/or permission from photo subjects.
